

[Mobile book] Managing Change: From Health Policy to Practice (Organizational Behaviour in Health Care)

Managing Change: From Health Policy to Practice (Organizational Behaviour in Health Care)

From Palgrave Macmillan
*audiobook / ebooks / Download PDF / ePub / DOC

 Download

 Read Online

2016-04-29 2016-04-29 File Name: B017KUPUNE | File size: 52.Mb

From Palgrave Macmillan : Managing Change: From Health Policy to Practice (Organizational Behaviour in Health Care) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Managing Change: From Health Policy to Practice (Organizational Behaviour in Health Care):

Managing Change is about implementing health care reforms, policies and programs into everyday practices. The book explores organizational change in health care as influenced by contemporary policy and management concepts, and presents and applies theoretical perspectives.

About the Author
Susanne Boch Waldorff is Associate Professor in the Department of Organization at Copenhagen Business School, Denmark, where she is also the director for Center for Health Management. She has published research on the organizational perspectives of the public sector, including the translation of policy into organizational practices, the complexity of governance approaches, reforms and professions, and collaborative innovation.
Anne Reff Pedersen is Associate Professor in the Department of Organization at Copenhagen Business School, Denmark. Her research field is organizational studies with a particular interest on organization theory, ethnography, narratives, time and the public policy field of Health Care. She has published articles in Organization, American Journal of Public Administration, Management and Management Learning and she has published several books about organizational change, public managers and management through the patient.
Louise Fitzgerald is Visiting Professor at Said Business School, University of Oxford and Emeritus Professor at De Montfort University, UK. Her research has focused on the implementation of organizational change in complex and public organizations, innovation diffusion and the nature of professional work and she has published in journals such as Human Relations, Academy of Management Journal, Leadership Quarterly and Social Science and Medicine.