

(Read free ebook) Mentor: Guiding the Journey of Adult Learners

Mentor: Guiding the Journey of Adult Learners

Laurent A. Daloz

*ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF

DOWNLOAD

READ ONLINE

#2206078 in eBooks 2009-09-28 2009-09-28 File Name: B0027VSQKQ | File size: 30.Mb

Laurent A. Daloz : Mentor: Guiding the Journey of Adult Learners before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Mentor: Guiding the Journey of Adult Learners:

11 of 12 people found the following review helpful. A Book that Supports and ChallengesBy Prof. Curtis KellyDaloz takes us on a journey through the wastelands and orchards of the educational experience. Through insights on developing learners through humanistic relationships, personal vignettes, and the best explanation of Perry's theory of intellectual growth I have ever read, Daloz leads us to the heartlands of transformative growth, for both teachers and learners. I highly recommend this soulful book to anyone who teaches, whether it be mentoring adult women learners as Daloz does, or lecturing in a traditional classroom. It is unusually readable, and you will find it hard to put down both times through. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. A Mentor's Guide By Nancy Jean Rose Applying the guidelines Laurent gives us will help turn almost anyone into a more effective mentor. Mentor: Guiding the Journey of Adult Learners is a necessary study book for those interested in serving as a mentor. 0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Got me what I needed By Shawn Great book for an insight into mentoring which is what I've done quite a bit of, even prior to the purchase of this book.

Revised and updated from the award-winning classic Effective Teaching and Mentoring, this second edition is a practical, engaging exploration of mentoring and its power to transform learning. Filled with inspiring vignettes, Mentor shows how anyone who teaches can become a successful mentor. "Nowhere else are learning, development, and mentoring so vividly and engagingly written about than in Daloz's book. . . . Already a classic in the field, this second edition updates us all on the awesome power and responsibility inherent in the mentor's role." --Sharan B. Merriam, professor, Department of Adult Education, University of Georgia "Essential reading.... This book will help more of us grow into one of the most life-giving relationships we can have with another person, one that will bring deep fulfillment to our own souls. Daloz has given a great gift to all who teach and learn." --Parker J. Palmer, author of The Courage to Teach

"This is a wonderful book, deservedly a classic. Daloz has written an evocative analysis of the promises, joys, problems, and contradictions endemic to mentoring. Packed with recognizable and truthful vignettes, the book is full of helpful advice grounded in a lifetime's experience." (Stephen D. Brookfield, Distinguished Professor, University of St. Thomas) "Nowhere else are learning, development, and mentoring so vividly and engagingly written about than in Daloz's book.... Already a classic in the field, this second edition updates us all on the awesome power and responsibility inherent in the mentor's role." (Sharan B. Merriam, Professor, Department of Adult Education, University of Georgia) "Essential reading.... This book will help more of us grow into one of the most life-giving relationships we can have with another person, one that will bring deep fulfillment to our own souls. Daloz has given a great gift to all who teach and learn." (Parker J. Palmer, author of The Courage to Teach) "Daloz's stories help us imagine building the kinds of student-mentor relationships that enable students to cultivate strong, articulate voices, claim the powers of mind, and become more deeply connected citizens of the world." (Mary Field Belenky, coauthor of Women's Ways of Knowing and author of A Tradition That Has No Name) "This wonderful classic has developed and matured, offering educators across all contexts new insights into how the challenging relationship between teacher and learner can become a source of growth for both partners in the journey." (M. Carolyn Clark, associate professor of adult education, Texas AM University) From the Inside Flap "This is a wonderful book, deservedly a classic. Daloz has written an evocative analysis of the promises, joys, problems, and contradictions endemic to mentoring. Packed with recognizable and truthful vignettes, the book is full of helpful advice grounded in a lifetime's experience." — Stephen D. Brookfield, Distinguished Professor, University of St. Thomas "Nowhere else are learning, development, and mentoring so vividly and engagingly written about than in Daloz's book.... Already a classic in the field, this second edition updates us all on the awesome power and responsibility inherent in the mentor's role." — Sharan B. Merriam, professor, Department of Adult Education, University of Georgia "Essential reading.... This book will help more of us grow into one of the most life-giving relationships we can have with another person, one that will bring deep fulfillment to our own souls. Daloz has given a great gift to all who teach and learn." — Parker J. Palmer, author of The Courage to Teach "Daloz's stories help us imagine building the kinds of student-mentor relationships that enable students to cultivate strong, articulate voices, claim the powers of mind, and become more deeply connected citizens of the world." — Mary Field Belenky, coauthor of Women's Ways of Knowing and author of A Tradition That Has No Name "This wonderful classic has developed and matured, offering educators across all contexts new insights into how the challenging relationship between teacher and learner can become a source of growth for both partners in the journey." — M. Carolyn Clark, associate professor of adult education, Texas AM University Revised and updated from the award-winning classic, Effective Teaching and Mentoring, this second edition is a practical, engaging exploration of mentoring and its power to transform learning. Filled with inspiring vignettes, Mentor shows how anyone who teaches can become a successful mentor to students. From the Back Cover "This is a wonderful book, deservedly a classic. Daloz has written an evocative analysis of the promises, joys, problems, and contradictions endemic to mentoring. Packed with recognizable and truthful vignettes, the book is full of helpful advice grounded in a lifetime's experience." — Stephen D. Brookfield, Distinguished Professor, University of St. Thomas "Nowhere else are learning, development, and mentoring so vividly and engagingly written about than in Daloz's book.... Already a classic in the field, this second edition updates us all on the awesome power and responsibility inherent in the mentor's role." — Sharan B. Merriam, professor, Department of Adult Education, University of Georgia "Essential reading.... This book will help more of us grow into one of the most life-giving relationships we can have with another person, one that will bring deep fulfillment to our own souls. Daloz has given a great gift to all who teach and learn." — Parker J. Palmer, author of The Courage to Teach "Daloz's stories help us imagine building the kinds of student-mentor relationships that enable students to cultivate strong, articulate voices, claim the powers of mind, and become more deeply connected citizens of the world." —Mary Field Belenky, coauthor of Women's Ways of Knowing and author of A Tradition That Has No Name "This wonderful classic has developed and matured, offering educators across all contexts new insights into how the challenging relationship between teacher and learner can become a source of growth for both partners in the journey." —M. Carolyn Clark, associate professor of adult education, Texas AM University Revised and updated from the award-winning classic, Effective Teaching and Mentoring, this second edition is a practical, engaging exploration of mentoring and its power to transform learning. Filled with inspiring vignettes, Mentor shows how anyone who teaches can become a successful mentor to students.