Edward Simpson : Muslim Society and the Western Indian Ocean: The Seafarers of Kachchh (Routledge Indian Ocean Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Muslim Society and the Western Indian Ocean: The Seafarers of Kachchh (Routledge Indian Ocean Series):

Based on substantial ethnographic, textual and archival research, this interesting book offers a new perspective on the anthropology of the western Indian Ocean. Writing in a clear, engaging style, and covering an impressive range of theoretical terrain, Simpson critically explores the relationships between people and things that give life to the region and drive shifting patterns of social change among Muslims in the highly-politicized state of Gujarat. Scholars of the Indian Ocean, Muslim society in South Asia, and Hindu nationalism, as well as anthropologists in general, will find this a fascinating read and a major contribution to research in this area.

About the Author Edward Simpson is Lecturer in Anthropology at Goldsmiths College, University of London. He has written on various aspects of both Muslim society and natural disasters in Gujarat, western India.
